

ABSTRACT

A chip, a genomic drug prescription support system, a chip information offering system, a chip supply system and a computer storage medium are provided for providing appropriate prescription support information concerning a genomic drug to be prescribed based on the genetic information of an individual. The chip 18 has probes 16 selectively disposed thereon for acquiring genetic information necessary for prescribing a genomic drug which is to be prescribed based in the genetic information of an individual.